THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Mason's Installation.

The newly-elected officers of Los Angeles Council, Royal and Select Masters, will be installed this evening at Masonic Temple.

Gift to Prof. Hamilton. Prof. A. L. Hamilton, retiring assistant County Superintendent of Schools, is the recipient of a gold watch, a gift from the teachers of the county presented at the meeting of the State Teachers' Association.

Not Authorized. The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association has refused to give an endorsement to a man who wants to work the old racket here of getting business men to pay him a round sum for their pictures inserted in a book on Los Angeles. The man comes from St. Louis.

City Buys Lots. E. V. Baker has conveyed to the city of Los Angeles lots 2, 4, 6, 7, 8, 10 and 12, block 3, Johnson street, 30x100 feet each on east side of Alameda street between Third and Fourth streets. The consideration is $14,500. The property is practically unimproved.

Friends' Revival. The revival meetings in the Friends Church at Third street and Fremont avenue, continue with increasing interest. The pastor, Rev. David E. Bant, who has had large experience as an evangelist, is assisted by R. N. Jeffery, the singing evangelist. Meetings are held daily at 2 and 7:30 p.m.

"Busted." Two bankrupts applied to the United States Court yesterday to be released from their debts. Minnie K. Huby, a Los Angeles school teacher, owes $700 and has $300 worth of personal property, and in addition, fifteen shares of stock in the Homeowner Publishing Company, of the par value of $1500, but of uncertain real value. L. E. Downing, a Southern Pacific employee, owes $501.25 and has $75 of personal property and $93.25 due him in money.

At a meeting held last night at 1212 Broadway and Burlington avenue over $200 was subscribed to meet the delinquency in the amount necessary to open Burlington avenue from Twelfth to First street. In all $225 have been raised. H. Fochler has charge of the subscription list. Councilman Theodore Summerland and an introduction to the Burlington-avenue difficulty which has been left him as a heritage by his predecessor, Summerland believed the street should be opened, he said last night. A. C. Walker, president, and George C. B. Robinson acted as secretary. J. H. Moore was appointed treasurer. An effort will be made to have the Council complete the proceedings without being stopped pending a settlement of the difficulty.

Dr. Van Norman has removed from 545 S. Broadway to temporary quarters—Rooms 15 and 16, 225 S. Broadway. John R. Eckstrom, being sued for divorce is not John R. Eckstrom, the upholsterer of 118 S. Broadway.

Two cabinet makers removed to 21 S. 17th street. Sunday, 225 S. Main.

TALKS WITH TRAVELERS.

E. Burton Holmes, traveler and lecturer, arrived from Chicago yesterday and is at the Van Nuys, prepared to enter on a professional tour of the Pacific Coast. A few years ago Mr. Holmes was in Morocco, and is familiar with the conditions that now beset the Sultan of that country.

"When I saw the present Sultan in 1924," said Mr. Holmes, "he was the favorite son of Mulai-el-Hassan, the ruler of the country, who was just about to die, and who had sent his son with a large cavalcade to Rabat, a fortified city, where he would be secure in asserting his power as ruler. The youngster was little more than a fat boy at that time but was greatly endeared to his father, who had selected him from several hundred offspring to rule the country."

"It is on account of the progressive tendencies of this son, Abd-el-Aziz, that the present uprising has occurred. He has introduced too many European customs to suit some of his people, and now is beset by ambitious pretenders who would wrest his power from him."

"For, of which we hear much at this time, is a city in the wilderness. Although there are 125 miles from Gibraltar, the journey requires eleven days because of the character of the country and the primitive methods of travel. There are no roads—nothing but mere trails—and the trip is made in slow-going caravans. The city probably is 1000 years old, and retains most of the ancient customs. Even at this time almost the entire populace accompanies the Sultan when he makes a journey to other cities. When I was there probably thirty thousand people of the plain and the mountains followed the ruler on a long expedition and the city was practically deserted."

"The saddle of the Sultan, you know, is his throne, and he sits in his palace. Whenever he wants to collect tribute he makes an incursion into the surrounding countries and appropriates to his own use anything that he desires. There is no protest against his will, but he seems to have a hard problem before him now in the opposition of Mulai Mohammed, who is at the head of the rebellious home."

"Coming to things nearer home," said Mr. Holmes, "I cannot help comparing some of the scenes in Norway with the Grand Cañon of the Colorado, which is at your door, and of which you all know so much. Scenically, Norway is a Grand Cañon, and the wonders of the world. In the matter of wild beauty they are alike, and yet they are vastly different. While the Grand Cañon is a mass of color, there is very little of it in Norway, in which dull gray predominates. While the Grand Cañon is the work of water, the wonders of Norway are the result of glacial action, which has cut deep into the granite and has left the eyes of his traveling expeditions. Mr. Depeke makes moving photographs of some of the scenes encountered and throws these pictures on the canvases together with views that he takes by his camera. He has had some thrilling experiences with the 100-foot ribbon films on which he reproduces the pictures which finally reach public gaze is exceedingly small."

F. T. McLeod, a Chicago photographer, has come to California to obtain views with which to illustrate a song entitled "Among the Hills of Old Carolina." The song is a collection of old songs that he has collected in the same way. The words are prepared by a song writer and I select the scenes with which to make them more realistic. California, with its bright colors and sunlight, is the most prolific source from which we draw. No matter where the scenes may be laid, we find here the surroundings that are best adapted to the purpose.

"In illustrating 'Among the Hills of Old Carolina,' for instance, I find the hills of California are much better for purposes of illustration than the hills of Carolina. For this song I have taken fifty or sixty photographs, of which about one-third finally will be shown when the song is sung. In doing my work I engage a number of persons to pose in the roles of the characters, and when the song is sung the views in conformity with nature."

"Among the songs that have been illustrated in a similar manner are 'Hello, Central,' in the baggage car ahead, and 'Just a Little Light, and Little Boy in Blue.'"

SAVAGE SAYS HE SAW SEPULVEDA MURDERED.
Detailed Confirmation of Grim Story of Jim Burke, the Hobo.
Prisoner in County Jail on Charge of Robbery, Relates the Sickening Details of a Killing That He Declares He Witnessed in the City Prison—Trusty Farley Did it, and Officers Hushed it Up.
RIGHTFUL corroboration of the story of the murder of the Mexican Sepulveda in the tanks of the city jail, comes from the lips of a boy named Charles W. Savage, waiting trial for robbery in the County Jail. Young Savage gives the lie to the jail officers who claim that Sepulveda was brought to jail with a cracked skull. The boy vows that he saw the Mexican foully murdered in the dim darkness of a jail tank by the prisoner "Trusty" Farley.
This is confirmation of the testimony volunteered by the hobo prisoner, Burke, in Justice Austin's court Saturday.
Savage claims that he was not allowed to tell his story. He says he asked permission of the city jailer to tell what he saw to the coroner's jury and was threatened with the dungeon hole if he did not "shut up." He says he was not allowed to send word outside. He says his mouth was effectively cowed.
Savage has just been removed from the City to the County Jail. Yesterday, he sent word to The Times through Jailer Tom Murphy. It was one of the last acts of Murphy's official career to deliver the message.
The boy told his story with dreadful simplicity.
He said that on the night of the murder, the receiving tank at the City Jail was so crowded that all the prisoners him up and took him into one of the cells.

He lay there in a dull stupor until noon of that day.
One of the prisoners went in to see him, and came out looking scared.
"That fellow is dying in there," he said.
Two or three of the prisoners immediately went into the cell and bore the dying man out in the tank.
Just as they got him to the door of the cell, the Mexican breathed his last.
Savage says that he went to the bars and attracted the attention of a heavy-set jailer, whose name he does not surely know, and asked for the privilege of testifying at the coroner's inquest.
He says that the jailer swore at him brutally, and told him: "Go back, and if you say any more about this you will go into the hole." You are in for larceny yourself, and your word don't count.
That was the last word, of course. Savage says the other prisoners advised him to keep still.
A hobo named Burke said, however, that his mouth would expire in a few days, and that just as soon as he got out, he would give information to the proper officers.
As it came to pass, the affair got out in relation to the battery complaint brought by Farley against Burke, whom he accused of hitting him in the tanks.
The matter is sure to be sifted to speed in whatever part of the Lord's vineyard he may be called upon to labor."

CRUEL CRUEL COLD FOR NEW YORK POOL.
AWFUL WRETCHEDNESS OF A METROPOLITAN TENEMENT.
Former Los Angeles Newspaper Man Paints a Word Picture of What He Saw While Serving the Charity Organization Society.
A tale of four units of human wretchedness in the frigid East is told in a letter from a former Los Angeles man, R. W. Thompson, a student of Columbia University and formerly of the editorial staff of The Times, written to his father, W. J. Thompson, of this city, giving a word-painted picture of appalling misery.
During his holiday vacation, Mr. Thompson spent some time in the service of the Charity Organization Society of New York City. Writing of it, he says:
"Yesterday I had an opportunity to play Santa Claus at one of the most pitiful homes I have seen as yet, and though I missed my supper and slept around in the slush for two hours after I was glad to do it. I went up five flights of dark stairs in a squalid tenement and knocked at the door of the O'Leary family. Was told to come in, and opened the door. The rooms were freezing cold, and behind the stove were crouched together two little children, about 6 years old, and a mother, wrapped up in all the clothes they had, to keep warm. The father and mother were sitting at the other side of the stove, looking the pictures of discouragement and despair. On the table which they had set for supper (2) was half a loaf of old bread and half a quart of milk, going-away truck was of brown cloth, and had almost nothing to eat (only bread and a quart of milk among the four) for two days previous, and that day the little boy had found 5 cents on

DISASTER TO CREDITORS.
Los Angeles Wholesalers Hit by Arizona Failures.
Hotel Cook Chief Promotor of Ruined Copper Company.
Douglas Firm's Statements of Its Indebtedness at Different Dates Didn't Tally.
The dubious operations of an Arizona firm are the subject of a circular statement, which the Los Angeles Wholesalers' Board of Trade has issued to the creditors of the Territorial concern. E. T. Dunning, attorney for the board, made a trip into the Territory for the purpose of investigating the affairs of Aston & Maloney, a general merchandise concern of Douglas, Ariz. Mr. Dunning returned to Los Angeles yesterday and, after he had conferred with the board, a statement of the case was issued by that body to the creditors. The circular says: "Aston & Maloney of Douglas, Ariz., made an assignment to H. S. Kenyon, their book-keeper, on the last of December. A written statement of their financial status made in November, showed them upwards of $20,000 to the good, and another on December 4, made to their largest creditors showed an indebtedness of $15,000. According to the assignment their indebtedness was nearly $30,000, and a special report from our local correspondent attorney places their indebtedness at $25,000. A meeting of the creditors of this board was called, and the attorneys were instructed to immediately file a petition in bankruptcy, and apply for the appointment of a receiver."
The circular adds that the petition for a receiver was filed at Tucson and an order was obtained from Judge Davis at Nogales appointing James Ewing as receiver, who qualified and went to Douglas today to take possession. "This proceeding," the circular states, "was taken with the approval of the largest Arizona creditors. Recommendations looking to a settlement of the case through the unanimous appointment of a receiver are included in the circular."
Among the heaviest creditors of the concern are L. Zeckendorf & Company of Tucson, $2000; the Copper Queen Mining Company, $2500; the Armour Packing Company of Kansas City, $2000; and the Barkley-Ross-Preston Company of Los Angeles.
COPPER COMPANY'S DOINGS.
While on his trip into the territory Mr. Dunning took action looking to the settlement of another case of financial embarrassment.
"The Copper Belle Mining Company of West Virginia, having headquarters in New York City, capitalized at $1,000,000 and owning valuable copper mines, a smelter, store, etc., at Goshute, Ariz., became involved last July," said Mr. Dunning. "The concern had upwards of $100,000 indebtedness. Attachments were levied for a large amount and the sheriff has taken possession ever since. Local creditors through the Wholesalers' Board of Trade in this city, filed involuntary bankruptcy proceedings last summer. The company by dilatory tactics prevented an adjudication of bankruptcy until an acute stage was reached on New Year's Day. The company sought to have its assessment work done to save its property, but was prevented by the sheriff and his deputies and others allied in interest."
"The mining company was then ready to join hands with the petitioning creditors in bankruptcy and ask for the appointment of a receiver. Accordingly the petition of M. A. Newmark & Company of Los Angeles was presented to Judge Davis at about midnight January 2, at Nogales, and an order was immediately made appointing A. H. Emanuel receiver, with power to take possession of everything connected with the company, and to have the assessment work done. An injunction was also issued against the sheriff, his deputies and John Gleason, the holder of a $15,000 mortgage, to restrain them from interfering with the performance of assessment work on the mining claims."
"An adjudication is expected shortly. Proceedings will be taken by creditors to set aside two mortgages of $5000 and $1000, respectively, that were taken in consideration for the purchase of stock in the company by one of the stockholders."
CHIEF CHIEF PROMOTOR.
"Many of the stockholders are Eastern people of small means. A large proportion of them are of the walter class in New York City. The chief of the Waldorf-Astoria was one of the chief promoters of the stock among that class."
ENGINEERS' ASSOCIATION.
The Ladies Auxiliary of the National Association of Stationary Engineers held their annual election of officers December 24, as follows: President, Mrs. F. Rademacher; Vice-President, Mrs. C. F. Miller; Past President, Mrs. J. B. Bruner; Recording Secretary, Mrs. J. F. Connel; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W. E. Kinnel; Financial Secretary, Mrs. W. T. W. Carl; Treasurer, Mrs. E. Weigley; Conductor, Mrs. E. Van Nest; Herald, Mrs. T. J. Hoyer; Doorkeeper, Mrs. A. Stevens; Chaplain, Mrs. A. M. Woods.
COAL SCARC.
Temporary Lack of Supply in Los Angeles, 'But Nobody Cares a Picayune' in the City of Sunshine.
"Yes," said a leading coal dealer yesterday, "there is a temporary scarcity of coal in Los Angeles just now. It is hard to account for—it's one of those things that just happen. In three weeks there will be plenty of coal here—then there will be little demand for it."
"In fact the demand for coal just now is very small. If people find it at all hard to get coal, they may easily turn to wood, gas, kerosene or electricity. For domestic purposes the demand is almost nil—except for sack lots. Householders who were turned out of their homes last October, and they are well fixed."
"Yes, coal is a little scarce, but no one cares a picayune."
It is stated that the $20,000,000 millionaires' strong consolidation, announced last month as an assured thing, has gone to pieces.

Rev. B. W. R. Taylor's Resignation of St. John's Church Acted Upon Last Evening.
The regular monthly meeting of St. John's vestry this last evening when the resignation of the rector of the parish came up for consideration. Mr. Taylor asked the vestry not to delay action any longer. He was asked if an increase of salary would induce him to reconsider his resignation and withdraw it, but his reply was that his decision could not be altered. He expected to take up work in an eastern parish sometime in June. The following resolutions were adopted, all of the vestry being present.
"Whereas, the Rev. B. W. R. Taylor, our beloved and revered rector, has tendered the resignation of his rectoryship to the vestry of this church, and whereas, the refusal of the vestry to accept said resignation, and their earnest request that Mr. Taylor continue among us as our rector, have not availed to induce him to withdraw his resignation, and whereas, Mr. Taylor's resignation, said resignation, in the parish and diocese are such that it will be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to fill his place. Now, therefore, be it "Resolved, that Mr. Taylor be requested by this vestry to place before the church in priest's orders, known to him as men who would loyally carry out the moral and churchly traditions of the parish in its work and worship.

"Resolved, that the vestry reiterate the sentiments of love and respect and esteem for Mr. Taylor as a man and as a priest, and wish him God-

Mayor Snyder presented his annual message to the Council. A petition for the protection of the House of the Council yesterday, published by authority, will be found elsewhere on this page.

AT THE CITY HALL.

HEATHEN RAGE VAINLY IN FAMILIAR LAND.

DEMOCRATS HAVE NO PART IN THE "PIE" DIVISION.

Brown Chosen for President of the New Council and Caucus Slate Put Through Without a Break—Impotent Attempts by the Minority to Elect Officers.

And it came to pass that the Dynasty of the Red Carnation prevailed against the House of the White Rose and a King was proclaimed amid much joy and feasting.

But the warriors of the rose beat against the palace gates where the King made merry, and would have forced a breach. Being few in number, they soon became exhausted, and the walls stood against them.

Then the King, respondent in the royal robes, went upon the walls and viewed the famished warriors round about. And his soul was filled with pity.

Then he called off the dogs of war, ordered the sword beaten into ploughshares, and pardoned the falling warriors. Being overcome with the odors of the feast, the warriors were glad to accept the crumbs from the palace table which the generous King sent to them by the knight of the "Levyns," all except their chief.

Sorrow overcame his appetite, and he to the chair. There was no speech making. While the rules of the previous Council were being adopted, some one placed a large bouquet of red carnations on Mayor Snyder's desk, and that valiant knight at the sight of the victorious token.

President Brown appointed Sumnerland, and Todd to wait upon the Mayor, and inform him that the Council was ready for business. But Todd refused point blank. "Let some new man have the honor," he said. Farish was appointed.

Mayor Snyder was formally notified, and his message was delivered to the Council by Clerk Foster C. Wright. The message, which is elsewhere printed in full, was referred to the committee of the whole.

The appointment by the Mayor of Foster C. Wright as clerk, Julius W. Krause as Superintendent of Buildings, and George D. Passell as Water Overseer were confirmed by the Council.

"PIE" DISTRIBUTION. During the preliminary proceedings the crowd in the lobby had steadily increased. Many contractors, place hunters and City Hall deputies were noted in the crowd. Three women gratified their curiosity and attended the session.

When Sumnerland moved that the Council proceed to the election of commissioners, the crowd in the lobby became intent on one.

For members of the Police Commission, Sumnerland named George W. Walker of the Fourth Ward; Skilling named S. R. Thorpe of the Third Ward; Nofziger named James A. Keeney of the Fifth Ward; Davenport named Willard H. Stinson of the Fifth Ward; Todd named John T. Jones; Kern named Le Grand Parker; Farish named W. C. Patterson. Todd then seconded the nomination of Keeney. On roll call Jones received nine votes, Walker, Thorpe and Stinson six votes, and Keeney, Parker and Patterson three votes. The first four were then declared elected.

When nominations for the Fire Commission were in order Nofziger named was elected Plumbing Inspector over John H. Cummings, named by Farish. For the board of examining engineers, Davenport named Frank Rada-macher of the Sixth Ward; McAleer named J. J. Malone of the First Ward; Skilling named J. J. Connell of the Third Ward; Kern named W. E. Kim-mell; Farish, James R. Atchison, Rad-amacher received nine votes; Malone and Connell six votes, and the others three votes. The first three were elected.

Skilling named Charles A. Blackmer of the Second Ward for Oil Inspector, and Todd named James W. Fullerton. Blackmer won, 6 to 3.

NEEDLESS ASSISTANT. Todd broke out again, when Skilling nominated Dwight Fargo of the Second Ward as assistant oil inspector. "I can't consistently vote for such an officer," said Todd. "There is no necessity of having such an official, and on the ground of economy I believe the place should be abolished."

Skilling maintained that there was need for the assistant.

To the Honorable Council—Gentlemen: In accordance with the provisions of the City Charter, I herewith present to your honorable body a general statement of the condition of the affairs of the municipal corporation, together with such recommendations as seem expedient and proper for your consideration.

The needs of the city are so extensive that you cannot expect to supply all of them during your term of office, owing to the limited income that the municipality derives. However, many required improvements can be made by careful management of the funds that will be available.

Even with the practice of rigid economy the city will have a deficit at the end of the present fiscal year of from $75,000 to $100,000.

Therefore in conducting the city's right. Todd's state is interesting to the extent that it is presumed to show the leanings of Mayor Snyder. The big petition in favor of J. G. Patterson for Boiler Inspector was filed, after Todd had forced its reading. An ordinance was passed directing the city engineer to have the city's fence to their aesthetic tastes. The number of men that the city will be able to employ on street work will not be sufficient to keep the roads in the best condition. It is therefore essential that only the most faithful and efficient workers be employed in that line of labor.

NEW CITY JAIL. I desire to call your attention to the present condition of the City Jail and Police Station. As soon as the new charter provisions providing for additional bonds become effective it will be necessary for you to take steps for the construction of a new City Jail and enlarged quarters for the receiving hospital, and the health department.

To give you an idea of the cramped quarters in the City Prison, permit me to call your attention to the fact that on the 27th day of last month 27 prisoners were crowded into the building, which is designed to hold more than eighty-eight.

In this same connection I wish to say that the present Receiving Hospital, which is a building that has been outgrown by the city, and more room, together with better equipment, must be provided for this important institution.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT. The health department guards the home of every citizen from disease and death. You should be most liberal in providing modern laboratory appliances and facilities needed by the Health Officer in his vitally important work.

Skilling moved that the petition be referred to the City and Light Committee, inasmuch as he was a member of that committee, and the seat of the trouble was in his ward.

Todd asked that the communication be referred to the City and Light Committee, inasmuch as he was a member of that committee, and the seat of the trouble was in his ward.

"That company just keeps inching and inching along," remarked Todd, parenthetically.

COMMITTEES. WHO IS WHO IN COUNCIL. At the afternoon session of the Council yesterday, President Brown announced the appointment of the following committees:

Will Busy Contractors. If the Council maintains the disposition shown yesterday, street contractors will have to be more prompt in carrying out contracts for improvements. Three extensions of time were asked by contractors yesterday, and in each case the extension was made very short, and notice given that the work must be finished by a certain date.

AT THE COURT HOUSE. "MAC" TRIED TROUSERS ON THE BURGLAR. IMPRESSIVE SCENE HAPPENED IN JUDGE SMITH'S COURT.

The New Administration Went into Office at Noon Yesterday—Supervisor Field Retired from the Board—In His Place Supervisor Longden Was Elected. Resolutions for Hammel.

Deputy District Attorney McComas, who has done some funny things as a public prosecutor, could hardly yesterday. He appeared before the jury as a pants fitter to an alleged burglar.

An insolent fellow named E. E. Hutchinson was tried on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, and other things from the house of Peter W. Gertz, of No. 4215 Reed street. He passed up the most aged story ever told in the courts of Los Angeles.

To dispute this statement McComas made him stand up in front of the jury, and tried to exhibit the trousers. Holding no kind of a fit for him; that he couldn't have bought them.

It was a scene of the utmost impressiveness.

"Oh, they're not such a fit," said Mac, warmly. The jury were deeply moved.

Mrs. Gertz was one of the strongest witnesses against Hutchinson. She said she had seen him in the night, and did not think much of him. In the morning her husband found that his watch and clothes were gone.

The witness went out on the street and saw Hutchinson walking along the street with a bundle under his arm in the cover of one of her coats.

torney Morgan declared that the people of the Eighth Ward were utterly opposed to the erection of a gas plant in the ward, and to the maintenance of the gas holder or governor on St. John street.

"This is of supreme importance," said the attorney, "for the homes of these people are at stake. Their little homes that are so dear to them are liable to be polluted by the foul odors and objectionable exhalations of this gas plant. The Council should pass a strict ordinance, but the company has gone ahead just the same. We ask that you protect us by enforcing all ordinances for the protection of our homes."

Signers of the petition live on Leroy. Ann. Bloom, Naud, Macy and many other streets in the Eighth Ward at a greater or less distance from the so-called governor maintained by the Valley Gas and Fuel Company. It reads as follows:

"The undersigned residents and property owners respectfully petition your honorable body to make a change in the boundary lines of the district affecting restricted buildings to the extent that a gas works may be located in our vicinity. Many of us have before petitioned that no gas works be allowed in this neighborhood, and we are now petitioning for the location and operation of the proposed gas works in our midst that at this time. BABIES' FOOD A SPECIALTY.

One Great Thing on Which Tingley Stands Pat.

"Purple Mother" Telling About Milk-cream Discovery.

Cross-examination of Souless Spot's Mistress, Trying to Her, Concluded.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN DIEGO, Jan. 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "She doth protest too much," cried the defense, as the effect of Mrs. Tingley's testimony in her own behalf in her trial against the Times-Mirror Company. Today, under skillful cross-examination by Samuel M. Shortridge, Jr., of counsel for the defense, the purple person divested herself of what was left of her purple glory. Mr. Shortridge quizzed her as to her knowledge of the last mysteries of antiquity, and various other things which she had learned from the "purple mother" in her own home. The learned counsel sounded her out on the philosophy of Pythagoras, the religion of Isis and Osiris, the Confucius, Jesus Christ and Mahomet, without eliciting anything to show that she is the light of the world in the present day and generation.

A perusal of the literature which has been since getting control of the Theosophist press would lead one to think that she is the only great power of law and light of the present day, but her disclaimers on the stand are so profuse that the conclusion is reached that she is, after all, a very ordinary Mahatma, or whatever she chooses to call herself.

Mrs. Tingley does not even claim, at the present juncture, to be possessed of an astral body, which can go sailing around the world, while her corpulent corporeal self is keeping company with the now soulless Spot at Point Loma. Neither does she claim in her testimony to be able to convey thought waves from Point Loma to the Hindoos in Madras, or the natives of Samoa without the aid of the Marconi wireless system of telegraphy or the Pacific cable.

The purple potentate has recanted and admitted much, but she stands pat on one proposition, and that is her system of baby farming.

Tingley has not been allowed to testify how many babies she has actually assisted in propagating, but she elucidated today her great discovery in the science of starting other people's babies to grow. After 6000 years of ignorance regarding the proper way of feeding infants, neither Tingley has made an improvement on nature. Some old-fashioned people, perhaps, will still cling to the notion that a mother's milk is the best food for her own baby, but in this respect Mrs. Tingley would do away with this natural selection of a baby's food, and of the baby's regulation of its own meal times. To a large audience of mothers, grandmothers and coo maidens, with motherly attentions, not to mention numerous interested auditors of the opposite sex, Mother Tingley today explained her system of starting the human digestive apparatus on its errand of reducing the food supply of the world.

She believes in giving the babies cream, good rich cream, from the bovine udder, although it is gratuitously suggested to Mrs. T. that the cream of asses' milk, being richer, might be better.

The cream should not be injected into the baby's stomach in its raw state, but should first be scalded, and then diluted with milk. Whether human or cow's milk should be used to thin the cream, Mrs. Tingley didn't specify, although she was asked by Attorney Shortridge whether she would add cream to the mother's breast.

The Tingley baby ration, to be most effective, so the inventor of the process testified, should be administered every half hour for at least four or five days, and might be continued at the same rate for several weeks; at the expiration of that time, the period between meals might be lengthened.

Mrs. Tingley gave her views on the dieting of babies, and the air of one who knows, but the snickering of the many women in the audience gave evidence that they had their own notions about feeding babies and that women feeling the responsibilities of motherhood would scarcely care to trust their tender offspring to the dieting of a woman who had no children of her own.

Mrs. Tingley's cross-examination was concluded about 2:10 o'clock. The ordeal was a trying one to her, and she gave a great sigh of relief when it was over, although the court said her much embarrassment by sustaining objections to many of the questions asked. Judge Torrance did not indulge in hostilities from the bench today in making his rulings. His decisions were made promptly and in few words, almost savagely at times. Tingley threatened to stop further cross-examination by Mr. Shortridge unless the latter ceased to pursue a forbidden line of investigation.

The courtroom was so densely crowded with spectators all day that standing room was at a premium. The court ordered all the windows opened in order to admit fresh air, and it was remarked that there was more ventilation of the courtroom than of the case at issue, many of the doors of Judge Torrance's chambers were kept open, and the investigation being kept securely closed.

The only other witness of the day besides Mrs. Tingley was H. H. Somers of San Francisco, a book-keeper for W. P. Fuller & Co., and secretary and treasurer of the Pacific Coast Committee of the Universal Brotherhood. He was called as a character witness to prove that the reputation for truth of Dr. Jerome A. Anderson of San Francisco is such that he can be relied upon to give a true and correct statement of the Universal Brotherhood, from which Anderson was a member and which Anderson's reputation in as unfavorable light. This, of course, was after Anderson's desertion from the Tingley fold.

Dr. Anderson's reputation for truth and veracity has heretofore been repeated by Mrs. Tingley in her testimony of the late Board of Freeholders that framed the present charter of San Francisco.

Somers was still under cross-examination by Mr. Shortridge when court adjourned, at 5:20 p.m.

MORNING SESSION.

MRS. TINGLEY'S QUIBBLES.

Cross-examination of Mrs. Tingley by Mr. Shortridge was resumed when court reconvened this morning. The courtroom was packed to the doors with spectators and the atmosphere soon grew so dense that such a halt was called in the proceedings while the windows were opened to let in fresh air. There was more ventilation of the courtroom than of the case, for objections to the questions asked by Mr. Shortridge were so numerous that it was impossible to extract all the information from the witness that was wanted.

Mr. Shortridge commenced by trying to get Mrs. Tingley to tell something about her "craftsmen"—the gentlemen who occasionally gambol about the heights of Point Loma in sleeveless Greek pajamas that come only to the knees, leaving the legs bare. Asked if these men were symbols, Mrs. Tingley at first said they were not. A little later she contradicted herself by saying that they might be considered symbols in the sense that the aprons worn by members of the Masonic fraternity at banquets and dinners and other ceremonies are symbolic.

"What was the object in dressing them up in that style?" was asked.

"To make them look like symbols," she replied, "and to make them look like symbols of the main reasons for assuming that garb, but witness went on to explain that the craftsmen were not allowed to wear such garments. No, she (Mrs. Tingley) had not designed the uniform, or ordered it; they probably got the design from some home on dress; she did not say fashion-plate. All that Mrs. Tingley had to do in the making of the pajamas was to suggest that the color be brown, so as not to get soiled so easily when worn."

An effort was made to get at some of the secret work of the order of Craftsmen and the other Point Loma activities. She did not know of any secret work, and had never given any information to the order, she said. A copy of a pamphlet issued by her in 1921, on the work of the Esoteric Society, which was sent to members under the seal of secrecy was shown to her for identification, but she introduced no evidence, or to make the foundation of cross-examination, on the basis of the pamphlet, as the "Outer Head" clothed with supreme authority, and hands to the faithful chunks of advice and admonition of the most material nature. Her assumption of the exercise of power, in this and other publications, was not a teaching of the order, she said. With such half-purplish quibbling witness all through the morning, sought to confuse the cross-examiner.

Objection to the question, "You are a perpetual Outer Head," was sustained.

Objections to questions as to her claim to be the equal of Confucius, Mahomet and Buddha, and to her claim to be the teacher of Theosophical teachings, she said, "taught in classes, I am not a teacher of any branch; we are very particular in our manner, we call it class talk."

do not believe in forcing people to do things."

SAVED BY "ANTERIOR."

She then went on to explain that she often suggested by example, by standing perfectly still and silent for the members to meditate. She denied absolutely that there was any set rule for meditation. Mr. Shortridge quoted from one of the secret pamphlets of instructions sent out by Mrs. Tingley, a paragraph stating: "Many members excuse themselves from obeying the rule of daily half-hour meditation without cause," for which infraction of rule disobedient members were severely censured. Mr. Shortridge asked Mrs. Tingley how she made her testimony on the witness stand conform with her printed declarations. The court sustained objection to the question and she was saved the annoyance of attempting an embarrassing explanation. Mr. Shortridge tried to file the pamphlet from which he had just quoted, as evidence, but objection was sustained on the ground that its publication was too far anterior to the present case. All through the trial the term "anterior" has helped Mrs. Tingley out of many an awkward situation.

Mrs. Tingley questioned further concerning the "readings" she gave in New York City. She could not remember all the subjects of those readings, but their general scope, she said, was the habit of picking up any subject that was progressive and had a bearing on human affairs. "It is my idea that in the human mind-up there is something superior to mind, I call it soul or immortality," she said. She gave readings in palmistry, physiognomy or phrenology, she declared. "Are you a Theosophist?" was asked. "I am trying to be one," she replied. She explained that she had persons attained to the perfection which entitles one to be called a Theosophist.

She said the Universal Brotherhood teaches Theosophy. She accepted the teachings of Blavatsky and Judge, but she was not a member of the order. Those alleged seances she gave in New York, she said, were nothing but character readings.

"What do you mean by character readings?" asked Mr. Shortridge.

"There is something in man which reveals his divinity," she replied. "I have determined that my idea was of a person's character as I judged it. For instance, if I were reading your character, I would tell you your character, and judge from your face, your speech or your manner."

Mr. Shortridge said he did not care to be analyzed by such an expert, and suggested that she practice on her own counsel if she felt she had to give character readings. He suggested that she practice on her own counsel if she felt she had to give character readings.

"It is not a fact that you give exhibitions at which you collected money as a means of livelihood?"

"It is a falsehood," was the vehement answer.

"What was the source of your income, before you became teacher of the Universal Brotherhood?"

"Objection to this question was sustained."

"CHARACTER READINGS?"

Witness denied that she ever charged a regular admission fee to any of her readings; there were classes, she said, members of which paid $2.50 each, and this money was used in her charity work on the East Side of New York.

She said she had publicly discussed hypnotism, opposing it most bitterly. She had never opposed spiritualism; she had accepted it in a sense, but never indulged in its phenomena.

Mr. Shortridge wanted to make her confess that she had practiced seances, and that there were vigorous objections, and the court cut her argument short by ruling that it was a mere collateral matter, and not material evidence.

Where the lights turned down when you gave readings?"

"Never. I was always opposed to such things."

"Tables moved about?"

"Never, sir."

A number of questions as to her life in New York and other cities were ruled out. She said she was married at the time she was giving readings, and doing charity work in New York.

"What was your husband's name?"

Objection sustained.

"What did your family consist of?"

Objection sustained.

"Did you not teach reclamation of the soul?"

Objection sustained.

"Did you teach the philosophy of Pythagoras?"

Witness wanted to answer that her counsel's objection was sustained.

Asked about having expressed to Dr. Jerome A. Anderson of San Francisco peculiar views on the members of the order, she replied that the only conversation she recalled having with one doctor on the subject was in regard to his interest in the subject of the order, and that she had never expressed any views on the subject to him.

Asked about her relationship with her husband, she said she was married at the time she was giving readings, and doing charity work in New York.

Asked if any part of the grounds at Point Loma were designated as sacred or holy ground, she explained that she resided there, and that it was not different from any other ground. No hill is designated as the holy hill, except in the newspapers.

In replying to a question about the discussions at the Greek symposiums held by the students at Point Loma, Mrs. Tingley entered upon a long dissertation about the various sources from which the Theosophists draw their inspiration. She emphasized the fact that she was as much from Christ as any one.

"Having talked, will you now kindly answer the question I asked you?"

Mrs. Tingley said she would not talk after that, but Mrs. Tingley couldn't remember how much she and her husband had said at the time of the seances. She was very sure that she accepted many of the teachings of Mrs. Blavatsky and W. Q. Judge, but did not recognize Col. Olcott or Annie Besant.

She said she never used the word "astral." "I have seen it so misused by Col. Olcott and Annie Besant that I feel horrified whenever I see it in print," she declared.

Mr. Shortridge, taking his cue from a statement in one of Mrs. Tingley's writings, asked:

"Is it true that on June 15, 1924, at 9 p.m., in mid-ocean, you received a message from H. P. Blavatsky?"

This question was put in several different ways, and each time Mrs. Tingley denied what Mrs. Mohr, then plaintiff's counsel, the objections being sustained by the court. As Mr. Shortridge persisted, the court warned him not to pursue that line of investigation, or the cross-examination would be stopped. Mr. Shortridge asked whether she had not made a statement to that effect at a convention in Boston.

"You are prohibited from asking any further questions of this witness," said the court, with asperity.

Mr. Shortridge explained that he wanted to put Mrs. Tingley to the test, and expressed willingness to let his colleague, Mr. Hunsaker, pursue the inquiry. The court retorted and allowed Shortridge to proceed.

A conversation witness had had of Mrs. Mohr was next adverted to. Mrs. Tingley denied what Mrs. Mohr, then plaintiff's counsel, the objections being sustained by the court. Mrs. F. Wright, of Oelwein, Iowa, is another one of the million women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Overshadowing indeed is the success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—compared with it, all other medicines for women are experiments.

Why has the greatest record for absolute cures of any female medicine in the world? Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work among women for a quarter of a century? Simply because of its sterling worth. The reason that no other medicine has ever reached its success is because there is no other medicine so successful in curing women's ills. Remember these important facts when a druggist tries to sell you something which he says is just as good.

A Young New York Lady Tells of a Wonderful Cure—

"Dear Mrs. PINKHAM:—My trouble was with the ovaries; I am tall, and the doctor said I grew too fast for my strength. I suffered dreadfully from inflammation and doctored continually, but got no help. I suffered from terrible dragging sensations with the most awful pains low down in the side and pains in the back, and the most agonizing headaches. No one knows what I endured. Often I was sick to the stomach, and every little while I would be too sick to go to work for three or four days; I work in a large store and I suppose standing on my feet all day made me worse."

"At the suggestion of a friend of my mother's I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is simply wonderful. I felt better after the first two or three doses; it seemed as though a weight was taken off my shoulders; I continued its use until now I can truthfully say I am entirely cured. Young girls who are always paying doctors bills without getting any help as I did, ought to take your medicine. It costs so much less, and it is sure to cure them. Yours truly, ANNE L. FRANK, 174 St. Ann's Ave., New York City."

Women should not fail to profit by Miss Adelaide Frank's experience; just as surely as she was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, so certainly will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure others who suffer from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, and nervous prostration; remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She can surely help you, for no person in America has such a wide experience in treating female ills as she has. Her address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free and always helpful.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

MUCH TALK LITTLE TOLD.

At the afternoon session Mr. Shortridge asked Mrs. Tingley about the names "Esoteric" and "Isis." How they came to be employed by her in connection with the naming of her institution, she said she chose them simply because they sounded well and had a classical ring. He asked her if she also on her knowledge of Egyptology, Grecian antiquity, and Greek plays which she had produced at Point Loma. She said she had no special knowledge of these things.

Asked if any part of the grounds at Point Loma were designated as sacred or holy ground, she explained that she resided there, and that it was not different from any other ground. No hill is designated as the holy hill, except in the newspapers.

In replying to a question about the discussions at the Greek symposiums held by the students at Point Loma, Mrs. Tingley entered upon a long dissertation about the various sources from which the Theosophists draw their inspiration. She emphasized the fact that she was as much from Christ as any one.

"Having talked, will you now kindly answer the question I asked you?"

Mrs. Tingley said she would not talk after that, but Mrs. Tingley couldn't remember how much she and her husband had said at the time of the seances. She was very sure that she accepted many of the teachings of Mrs. Blavatsky and W. Q. Judge, but did not recognize Col. Olcott or Annie Besant.

She said she never used the word "astral." "I have seen it so misused by Col. Olcott and Annie Besant that I feel horrified whenever I see it in print," she declared.

Mr. Shortridge, taking his cue from a statement in one of Mrs. Tingley's writings, asked:

"Is it true that on June 15, 1924, at 9 p.m., in mid-ocean, you received a message from H. P. Blavatsky?"

This question was put in several different ways, and each time Mrs. Tingley denied what Mrs. Mohr, then plaintiff's counsel, the objections being sustained by the court. As Mr. Shortridge persisted, the court warned him not to pursue that line of investigation, or the cross-examination would be stopped. Mr. Shortridge asked whether she had not made a statement to that effect at a convention in Boston.

"You are prohibited from asking any further questions of this witness," said the court, with asperity.

Mr. Shortridge explained that he wanted to put Mrs. Tingley to the test, and expressed willingness to let his colleague, Mr. Hunsaker, pursue the inquiry. The court retorted and allowed Shortridge to proceed.

A conversation witness had had of Mrs. Mohr was next adverted to. Mrs. Tingley denied what Mrs. Mohr, then plaintiff's counsel, the objections being sustained by the court. As Mr. Shortridge persisted, the court warned him not to pursue that line of investigation, or the cross-examination would be stopped. Mr. Shortridge asked whether she had not made a statement to that effect at a convention in Boston.

On a woman not here to defend herself, Hunsaker said, and the court stopped further discussion of this subject.

"How many times have you been married?" "What is the name of your present husband?" Where does he reside?" were the last questions asked of Mrs. Tingley. Objection to each was sustained, and at 2:10 p.m. she was excused from the stand.

The next witness called for plaintiff was H. H. Somers of San Francisco. He called to the witness stand F. P. Fuller & Co., and was well acquainted with Dr. Jerome A. Anderson, who had made a deposition reflecting strongly on Mrs. Tingley and her management of affairs at Point Loma. He had known Anderson possibly ten years and knew his reputation for truth and veracity to be bad.

On cross-examination it developed that Somers had been summoned to San Diego to testify against Anderson by Secretary-General Pierce of Mrs. Tingley's cabinet. He said he had information beforehand of the character of evidence wanted from him. He had very friendly feelings toward Anderson, but he had to testify that his work was not reliable.

Somers said he was secretary and treasurer of the Pacific Coast Committee of the Universal Brotherhood, and presumed he owed his appointment to Mrs. Tingley at a time when Dr. Anderson was in charge of the committee. He understood that Mrs. Tingley could revoke his office at will. He came to testify in this case, he said, because he requested, not because of a sense of duty to Mrs. Tingley, but because he found her to be a woman of high character. The same telegram had come with him.

"My deep regard for Dr. Anderson had always caused me to shield his weaknesses," said the witness. He said he had discussed Anderson's reputation many times in private with members of his lodge.

"We could not depend on him. He had no regard for his word of honor whatever he said. I have had strangers step up to me at public meetings and say Dr. Anderson was a liar."

"Why don't you put a bridge on that man; he is lying," one man said to him. That was because Anderson was a liar, said Somers. He said he was a robber. He knew of a washerwoman who had been robbed in freight charges.

Somers admitted he never had any dealings with Anderson outside of the fraternal work. He said he was the friend and champion of Mrs. Tingley whenever he believed she was right.

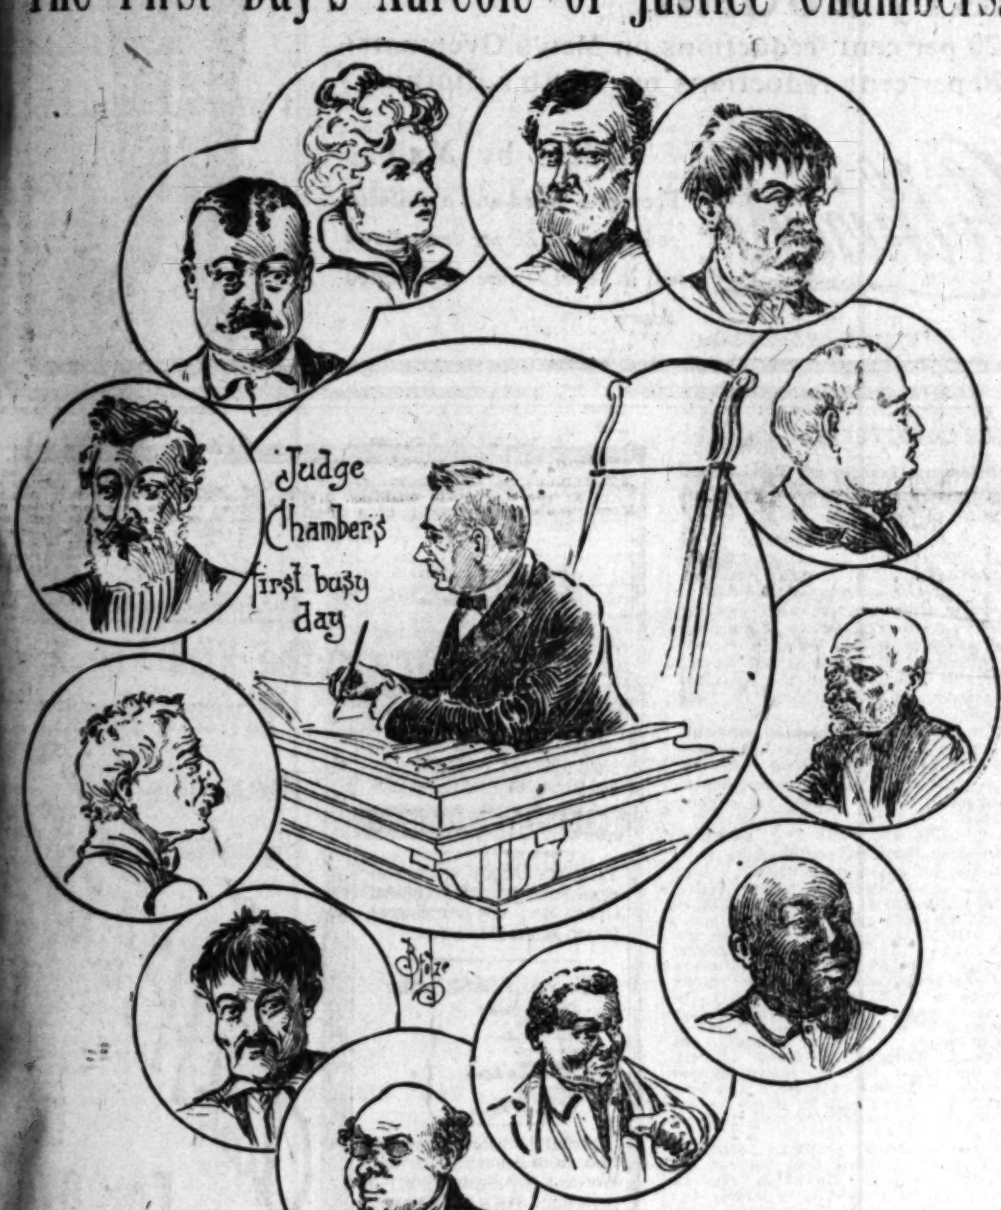

His esteem for Dr. Anderson had been shattered by degrees, and he had discussed his reputation with at least fifty people.

Mr. Shortridge asked him to name the fifty. It proved a hard and tedious task, but he complied bravely.

Court remained in session until 3:15 o'clock, when it adjourned for the day. It was not more than half through adjournment. All he named were three or four people, when the time for adjournment had taken place since release of some of Mrs. Neil's history.

At 3:15 o'clock, Mrs. Tingley, Somers in a hurry to return to San Francisco, interrupted with an objection. "Witness is endeavoring to cast aspersions

The First Day's Aureole of Justice Chambers.

Justice Chambers' first busy day. The illustration shows various scenes of legal activity and courtroom drama. The text describes the events of the day, including the trial of Mrs. Tingley, the deposition of Dr. Anderson, and the activities of the law firm of Chambers and Associates.

The trial of Mrs. Tingley continued this morning. The courtroom was packed with spectators, and the proceedings were conducted with great formality. The defense, represented by Samuel M. Shortridge, Jr., continued to cross-examine Mrs. Tingley, seeking to establish her credibility and the accuracy of her testimony. The prosecution, represented by the law firm of Chambers and Associates, presented evidence in support of their case.

The deposition of Dr. Jerome A. Anderson was also taken this morning. Dr. Anderson, who had been summoned to San Diego to testify against Mrs. Tingley, gave his deposition under oath. He testified to his knowledge of Mrs. Tingley and her activities at Point Loma, and to his relationship with the Universal Brotherhood.

The law firm of Chambers and Associates was very busy this morning. The firm had several cases on its docket, and the attorneys were working hard to prepare for the trial of Mrs. Tingley. The firm's reputation for excellence in legal representation was well known, and its attorneys were highly respected in the legal community.

The day's activities were a testament to the firm's commitment to justice and the rule of law. The trial of Mrs. Tingley was a landmark case, and the firm's involvement in the case was a source of pride for all who were associated with it.

When asked if they were guilty, Epsy looked at Massy, then at her husband, and then at the crowd that packed the courtroom. His wife had concealed herself behind the board partition that separated the dock from the courtroom, and she looked at each other, and each quietly said, "Guilty."

In explaining the trouble that had occurred at the club Epsy said he had dropped a sack of money, and when he showed a disposition to recover it they shoved him to the dock.

"Did you find your money?" asked the court.

"No, sah, never did find it," harked the witness.

"How much money was in the sack?"

"Let's see, dere was $2.55 in it."

The court evidently sympathized with him in the loss of his "sack," but it must have been a selfish thought, for he laid a fine of $10 on Epsy, and E. C. Massey, giving cash, however, the privilege of working it out on the chain gang.

Faun Bunch, a vag, who last fall served a sentence of forty days, was arraigned for stealing a hammer, but as he pleaded not guilty, his case was set for hearing this morning.

F. L. Hober, who committed an assault upon old Dr. Holbrook and his wife because they disputed his possession of an old stove, was brought before Judge Austin, and the case continued until Saturday, because the old gentleman was unable to leave his bed.

Charles L. Burke was acquitted of the charge of battery, and was set for trial on a charge of assault upon William J. Barry, secretary of the Waters' Union. Barry went to Burke's restaurant and undertook to take away his union card, and Burke defended his rights by throwing the intruder out the door. The court said that he had apparently used only necessary force.

A LESSON.

A. E. Easley and James Sullivan, the two men who were in charge of a Belt Line car when arrested for obstructing Broadway by permitting the car to stand beyond the prescribed time, were released without hearing. It will be observed, however, that the cars do not stand on lower now.

FATHER OF THE VALLEY
SEES ANOTHER WORLD.WILLIAM ALEXANDER CONN DIES IN SAN BERNARDINO.

Fifty Years in California, Once Owner of Site of Town, and Man Who Promoted Settlement by Liberty and Public Spirit.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 5.—William Alexander Conn, who has been known as the "father of San Bernardino Valley," died last evening at his home on C street, aged 83 years. He came here in pioneer days, and purchased 3000 acres of the Rancho San Bernardino, which included the site of the city. This land he sold at low prices to settlers from Utah and other places, whom he induced to come here, which was instrumental in effecting the rapid settlement of the valley. He donated the city park to the people, and the Catholic Church site to that denomination. He was unmarried.

Mr. Conn was most liberal in his dealings with new settlers, many of the families now esteemed as among the leading members of the community, receiving their homes from him. He was born in 1848 in the West Indian Islands, and during his residence of nearly half a century in this locality, was recognized as a strong individuality in the pioneer history of California. In 1888 he was elected to the State Assembly, and in 1897 was elected State Senator, filling that office until 1911.

REMARKABLE TERROR.
Rodolph Knapp, 22 years of age, became suddenly demented last evening, and for several hours held the neighbors in the vicinity of Ninth and E streets in a state of terror. He was finally overpowered by the officers, after a hard fight, before he had succeeded in harming any person. He was placed in the County Hospital, pending an examination as to his sanity.

ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.

MURDEROUS ROBBERS
ASSAULT A VICTIM.CLEVELAND, O. MAN BEATEN LAST NIGHT IN REDLANDS.

F. S. Spaulding, deprived of money and diamond by highwaymen and severely injured that his condition is considered critical.

REDLANDS, Jan. 5.—F. S. Spaulding, a well-to-do citizen of Cleveland, O., was robbed and brutally beaten by highwaymen here tonight, and is considered to be in a critical condition. Mr. Spaulding is a tourist, combining business with pleasure, and has been staying in San Bernardino. Today he came here to look after property on Colton avenue, being interested in orange orchards. This evening, while walking on the street about 10 o'clock, he was accosted by three black men, who broke into his Hotel, two ruffians pounced upon him. One knocked him down with a club, and the other took his money, $50, and a diamond, valued at $50. It appears that he was hit several times, and when he was picked up and removed to the Benningford hotel, where he remains, the physicians found his shoulder bone broken and one knee cap split, and severe bruises elsewhere. He is in a semi-conscious condition, and internal injuries are feared.

Parties who arrived on the scene a moment after the attack, gave a good description of the robbers, and this will be sent to all officers in Southern California, and strenuous efforts put forth to capture the highwaymen.

Cal. D. Lester is the Winner—Dr. Cushman Elected County Physician—Westminster Rancher Cut by Mowing Machine—Huntington Coming.

SANTA ANA, Jan. 5.—The appointment of Cal. D. Lester of Fullerton as County Clerk, and the election of Dr. D. A. MacMillan of Orange, Supervisor, were the most important work of the new Board of Supervisors in its first session today. The old board this morning concluded its business and received an expression of thanks from the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce for cooperation in advancing the interests of the county during the past four years.

The new board was called to order by County Clerk C. E. Beckett, and Dr. D. A. MacMillan of Orange was unanimously chosen chairman. His appointment as County Clerk for four years applications were received from C. D. Lester, Fullerton; R. P. Freeman, Santa Ana; R. P. Marquez, Yorba; L. A. Newberry, Garden Grove; Charles J. Kennedy, Buena Park; W. W. Potter, Orange. The first ballot gave one vote each for Lester, Kennedy, and Freeman, but on the second ballot Lester received three votes, Potter one and Freeman one, and Lester was elected. The new County Clerk is 28 years of age, and has resided in Orange county three years. His home was originally in Orange, where his father still lives. For some time past he has been superintendent of the Santa Ana Company, with headquarters at Fullerton.

From four candidates—Dr. E. M. Freeman, A. R. Cunningham, John Wehr and W. P. Freeman—for the office of county physician, the first ballot gave the choice to Dr. Cushman, who received three votes to two for Freeman. Dr. Cushman was chairman of the Board of Supervisors, and during the last campaign, W. M. Boring was appointed chairman of the county Board of Supervisors, and George M. Benedict as janitor.

Ford Knapp, of the clerking force at the local post office, has been transferred to the railway postal service on the Gila Valley, Globe and Northern Railway.

Carl R. Smith has sold twenty-five feet opposite the City Hall to W. B. Harvey for $2500, an advance of 100 per cent. The week of prayer for churches will be observed in all the city churches every evening this week, except Sunday.

Jealousy Over Southern Woman May Mean Death.

Ira B. Truesdel Sends a Bullet Into J. M. Brittain.

Finds Mrs. Ross, Object of His Infatuation, in Chum's Room and Fires.

J. M. Brittain, a southerner, 21 years old, was shot through the breast by Ira B. Truesdel, of the same age, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in the latter's room at Mrs. Fannie M. Ross's lodging-house, No. 67 Turner street. Brittain is at the California Hospital.

Two weeks ago Brittain returned to the house unexpectedly and found Truesdel and Mrs. Ross in a fight. He knocked the young dentist down, and beat him fiercely. They made up and were quite chummy until the last affair.

Brittain is the son of W. J. Brittain, a wealthy farmer of Fresno. Truesdel said to be well connected. Mrs. Ross was detained at the Police Station several hours, but in the evening she was released. She hurried to Brittain's side, and remained with him as long as the hospital rules would allow.

Up to 3 o'clock this morning there was no change, apparently, in Brittain's condition. The critical period will be when the operation is performed. If he lasts through this, he may be able to get on his feet. He has no hope of his being able to stand the strain.

SANTA MARIA.

SANTA MARIA, Jan. 5.—Charles A. Kaenen fell sixty feet while being hauled out of a well and suffered severe, if not fatal, injuries, on Mission street, Santa Maria. The fall occurred at the completion of a day's work he was being hauled to the surface. As he was about at the top of the rope, he fell and landed on his head, sustaining a broken back, dislocation of the shoulder and a broken leg, as well as internal injuries. His condition is very precarious, but it is possible that he may recover. He is about 45 years of age, and has a family.

RURAL DELIVERY.

Through the efforts of the superintendent of the Fresno Development Company, Robert Easton, it is possible that free rural delivery will be established in this valley, beginning March 1. Mr. Easton has been working for some time to get the necessary approval from Washington that everything possible is being done to give this territory the best of service. It is stated that the route has been approved, and the only reason why the system is not established at once is that the funds allotted for the purpose have been disbursed, and it will be necessary to wait until a new appropriation becomes available, which will be in the hands of the government in a few days.

Mr. Fannie Ross, a divorced widow of 25, was arrested here tonight by Sheriff Timmons of Fresno, on a charge of passing worthless checks, aggregating $200 at Fresno. Kennedy is well known in several cities of the State, and did the electric display work at the last carnival in Bakersfield and in other cities.

over to the bedside, and in a voice choked with remorse, asked—"Will you forgive me, Marion?" Brittain could not speak, but he nodded.

This is the story as told by Mrs. Ross last night. Mrs. Ross, by the way, is quite a handsome woman. She has a full, vivacious, refreshing smile. She was very becomingly groomed. She has known "Marion" all his life, she says.

Her former husband is J. W. Ross, traveling salesman, for a big jewelry house in New Orleans. She secured a divorce from Ross about two years ago, and the court awarded her the custody of the four children, all girls. She has been here about two months, conducting the lodging-house on Turner street.

When she came here, Brittain accompanied her, and Truesdel was on the same train. This woman from the South fascinated them both, hence the shooting.

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 5.—Leroy Bliss Peckham, the deposed principal of the county High School, tonight refused to vacate his office, at the order of the Board of Education, and when County Superintendent Stockton went to take charge until the arrival of Mr. Peckham's successor, he was informed that the principal would not get out. Peckham personally called upon the members of the board, and instructed them not to hear any intimations from Fish and Grady, the suspended students who were expelled by the board. The members then saw the teachers, and instructed them to disregard Peckham's orders. The Board of Education is now in session, and consulting with the District Attorney's office as to what action must be taken in order to oust the defiant principal.

Second Day White Fair Undermuslins.

The great concourse of people who thronged our Undermuslin Department yesterday was an appreciated testimonial from our public that they rely on the Hamburger Store to do things. We were the first store to start these semi-annual White Fair sales in Los Angeles and this is now our tenth effort and it far exceeds all previous ones. We have gathered from every manufacturing center of the new and old continents the best lines of merchandise, and as far as the undermuslins themselves are concerned, all are in the newest, most accepted shapes; all made under the best sanitary conditions, and, quality considered, prices cannot be duplicated. So great are these assortments that it will be several days before any lines will be broken; but as you like to get the best of everything, let us suggest that you make your selections as early as possible. You cannot buy them cheaper later in the season, and you may as well buy them now and have them ready for spring and summer uses.
